

A healthier mouth is on the menu.

Oral health and nutrition:
What you should know.

What you eat can have a big impact on your oral health. The more you know, the more you're able to make healthier decisions.

A healthy, balanced breakfast can help to protect your smile.

Your mouth, like your body, needs nutritious food to stay healthy. Eating a balanced breakfast that is rich in fruits, vegetables, fiber and healthy proteins can help to prevent bad breath, tooth decay, early tooth loss and gum disease.*

Mouth-friendly foods

- Fruits and vegetables (try to get five servings per day!)
- Cheese, milk and low-sugar yogurt
- Sugarless gum

Mouth-friendly drinks

- Water
- Green and black teas

A safer way to have sugary or starchy foods

Have them at the same time as a meal, when there's more saliva to reduce the effect of the acid made by oral bacteria when we eat. And try to drink water after.

A safer way to have sugary drinks and alcohols

Use a straw. That way, your teeth have less exposure.
